

American Thoracic Society

International Conference

ePoster Guidelines

ePOSTER GUIDELINES

The ATS is offering to authors of accepted abstracts the opportunity to make their research available electronically by submitting an e-Poster.

NEW: In addition to the ePoster, you may record and upload a 5-minute audio clip or video clip to enhance the presentation of your research. Viewers will be able to play the audio or video while viewing your ePoster. Viewers may also use the message feature to connect to authors directly.

Submission of an e-Poster is optional and free of charge, although we strongly encourage your participation.

e-Posters are not regarded as publications. They are not considered as pre-publication, nor are they peer-reviewed or citable. e-Posters are restricted to “view only”. No download, print or sharing options are available.

Disclosure of Commercial Support and Relevant Financial Interests : e-Posters must briefly acknowledge: (1) any commercial support of the original research presented; (2) any financial interests held by the first, last, corresponding author of the research presented, and the e-Poster presenter if different, in a commercial entity that is relevant to the subject matter of the original research presented, within the past 12 months.

- For e-Poster disclosures the ATS defines commercial support as: any funding or in-kind support provided by a commercial entity to the authors noted above, or their institutions, in direct support of the original research presented. Support provided by providers of clinical service directly to patients, such as authors’ institutions, is not regarded as commercial support and does not require disclosure.
- For e-Poster disclosures the ATS defines relevant financial interests as including: (1) Any compensable services provided to a commercial entity that has business interests related to the original research presented, such as a pharmaceutical company or medical device company, product manufacturer, investment firm, or law firm that represents a relevant commercial entity, even if uncompensated. Examples of common industry-compensated relationships are: consulting; advisory committees; speaking; expert testimony commissioned by a relevant company or its agents; travel support; and in-kind provision of equipment or services. (2) Any equity interests in an entity relevant to the original research presented, including stock, stock options, or other ownership interest, excluding general mutual funds; (3) Any intellectual property rights held directly by an author that are relevant to the subject matter of the original research presented, such as a patent, whether granted or pending, or a copyright.
- ePoster disclosures should consist of the author’s name followed by the name of the company involved and the type of relationship involved (examples above). Disclosures should not use company logos or brand or proprietary drug or device names.

How to Create and Submit Your e-Poster, Audio or Video Clip

- To start go to: https://cslide-us.ctimeetingtech.com/ats2020_eposter/
- Log in to the site by using login token
- DEADLINE: Friday, July 31, 2020, 11:59 PM ET

1) ePoster

- e-Posters must be submitted as a PDF file only. Your PDF file should not exceed one page.
- Use one of the e-Poster templates to create your e-Poster. The e-Poster templates can also be found at <http://conference.thoracic.org/speakers/index.php>.
- Prepare the PowerPoint slide and then save it as a PDF file in your computer.
Please note: You can also upload a PDF file of your poster that you already created.
- Click Upload button
- Click Browse Local Files button to upload your PDF file from your computer
- To make changes to your ePoster after it is uploaded, delete the file and upload a new version
- QR Codes: It is appropriate to include QR Codes on the ePoster that link the audience to the poster data or a printable poster pdf. It is not acceptable to include QR Codes that link to an institution or company homepage.

American Thoracic Society

International Conference

ePoster Guidelines

2) Audio or Video Clip

- Your audio or video clip should not exceed 5 minutes
- Guidelines for recording your audio or video clip can be found at <http://conference.thoracic.org/speakers/index.php>.
- After uploading your ePoster, click Next button
- Click Browse Local Files button to upload your audio or video file from your computer
- To make changes to your audio or video clips, delete the file and upload a new version
- Click Done button to finalize your submission

If you have questions about the program, please contact Nancy Guerrero at nguerrero@thoracic.org.

For technical support contact ats@support.ctimeetingtech.com.