EPOSTER GUIDELINES

All authors of accepted abstracts should submit an ePoster. Uploading an ePoster and presenting in person allows an abstract author to receive maximum exposure for their abstract during the ATS conference and on the ATS on-demand highlights platform post-conference.

An ePoster can be uploaded in one of the following formats:

- One-page PDF alongside a 5-minute audio clip (audio clip is optional)
- A 5-minute MP4

The ePosters will be available in the ePoster Viewing Site and accessible to conference attendees on the following dates:

- In-person Conference – Sunday, May 15 - Wednesday, May 18
- On-Demand Platform – Wednesday, May 25 – Friday, June 24

Please Note: uploading an ePoster does not replace your slide upload or printed poster for your in-person presentations.

Presenting authors with ePosters will have the opportunity to answer questions from attendees via email or the Chat Box throughout the in-person conference at any time.

e-Posters are not regarded as publications. They are not considered as pre-publication, nor are they peer-reviewed or citable. e-Posters are restricted to “view only”. No download, print or sharing options are available.

Disclosure of Commercial Support and Relevant Financial Interests: to ensure that commercial support of research is appropriately acknowledged, and the research is free of undue commercial bias, ePosters must briefly acknowledge: (1) all commercial support of the original research presented; (2) all financial interests held by the first, last, and corresponding authors during the duration of the study that are relevant to study subject matter.

- For ePoster disclosures the ATS defines commercial support as: all funding and in-kind support provided by a commercial entity (company) to the authors noted above, or their institutions, in direct support of the original research presented.
- For ePoster disclosures the ATS defines relevant financial interests as including: (1) All compensable services - even if uncompensated - provided to a company that has business interests directly related to the original research presented, e.g., a pharmaceutical or medical device company, other manufacturer, investment firm, or law firm representing a relevant commercial entity. Common relevant financial interests include research support (not limited to the study presented), consulting, advisory committees, speaking, expert testimony, travel support, and in-kind provision of equipment or services. (2) All equity interests in a company that is relevant to the original research presented, including stock, stock options, or other ownership interests, excluding general mutual funds; (3) All intellectual property rights that are relevant to the subject matter of the original research presented, such as a patent, whether granted or pending, or a copyright.
- The ePoster disclosures should note the respective author’s name followed by (1) under the title “Research supported by,” the name of the supporting company or companies; (2) under the title “Authors’ relevant interests,” the name of the respective author, the relevant company involved, and the type of relationship (examples above). Acknowledgement should be free of company logos, brand or proprietary drug or device names.
